

REVIVE INQUIRY INTO DEATH OF AVIATOR

BOSTON, May 25.—An inquest into a year old death mystery—the shooting of Lieut. Paton G. McGilvary, a former army aviator, who had won several medals for bravery in the World War, was reopened today. It had been suspended for several months after brief sessions, called in an attempt to clear up conflicting indications of murder and suicide.

tor, who had won several medals for bravery in the World War, was reopened today. It had been suspended for several months after brief sessions, called in an attempt to clear up conflicting indications of murder and suicide. The McGilvary body with four bullet wounds was found in a back alley in the Back Bay here last May. He left a note to a friend regarded as a farewell. The medical examiner reports that death "occurred in a manner unknown." Relatives of McGilvary called in pathologists to hold an autopsy on the body after it was sent to McGilvary's home. Their report was that he was a victim of murder.

PROHIBITION AS VIEWED BY VERMONTERS

Mr. F. H. Brooks and Judge Taylor Answer a Questionnaire

The Manufacturers Record of Baltimore recently published a symposium from hundreds of the leading manufacturers, bankers and professional men as to their views on the prohibition question. Many strong arguments are advanced from both the economic and moral standpoints from noted men as Judge E. H. Gary, Dr. Richard C. Cabot, Eugene N. Foss, President Burton of the University of Minnesota and many others. The following questionnaire was published and four Vermonters replied to it, Frank H. Brooks of St. Johnsbury, Gov. James Hartness of Springfield, Judge William H. Taylor of Hardwick and Charles P. Smith of Burlington.

1. Are you still opposed to the liquor traffic to the extent that you were when you signed the petition to Congress? If so, will you kindly give me your views on the matter either in a brief sentence or two, or in a more elaborate discussion?

2. If you have changed your views in any way will you kindly give me our reasons therefor in the same manner?

3. What has been our experience in studying this question as to the effect of Prohibition on labor or the saving of the money formerly spent for liquor, and its use in the betterment of homes and the better care for women and children of the men who formerly spent freely for drink?

4. Is drunkenness as common at the present time, so far as you are concerned, as it was under the open saloon and the free liquor traffic? If in addition to the questions which I have asked, you can give me any other information or expression of your views on the whole situation, I will greatly appreciate all that you can say on the subject.

Mr. Brooks answers were as follows:

1. More so than ever.
2. Changed them only to be more convinced that the present law breakers should be punished.
3. I believe it is absolutely beneficial to the vast majority in every way.

4. Not among the rank and file. Among the well-to-do and those who can pay, there seems to be a determined fight to break laws, ridicule a beneficent law and try to succeed in showing selfishness.
5. The rich high-class who connive with bootleggers should be classed as criminals and criminally responsible for insisting upon having their drinks in defiance of the Constitution and the laws of the land.

Gov. Hartness replied,
1. Yes.
2. A favorable to everlasting Prohibition.
3. No.
4. Just two sides.—The home for Prohibition, and appetite for alcohol and its profits is exposed. Judge Taylor answers were these:

1. Yes.
2. To the extent that the law is enforced it has, I feel confident, been beneficial along the lines indicated.

3. Emphatically, No.
4. The press is being filled with propaganda in the interest of the liquor traffic. There should be a well divided plan to counteract this.

Mr. Smith answered as follows:
1. Yes.
2. I am in full accord with the views expressed by President Harding in his letter.
3. No.

True Friends of Vermont.—The Reformer always believed that Governor Fletcher's interest in Vermont affairs was inspired by a sincere love of the state in which his family was prominent for so many years before him, and while the future may not have held for him any political preference it is certain that his vigorous treatment of issues would have been a considerable factor in solving the governmental problems which confront the state.—Battleboro Reformer.

Relics Found In Corner Stone of Old Church

was enthusiastically sung in honor of the mother of God, to whom the new building is to be dedicated, under the title of Our Lady of Victories, which is the name of one of the most popular churches of Paris, the capital of France. "At the conclusion of the prayer, the Rt. Rev. Bishop addressed the congregation and told all present in his usual, clear manner the reason why we were building a church here, explaining to them at the end of the discourse the meaning of the ceremonies used in the Catholic church for the laying and blessing a corner stone.

"The procession then took place, headed by the pastor and the cross-bearer, with the two acolytes carrying candles; next came some little girls dressed in white and wearing wreaths of flowers on their heads showing that they were under the special care of Mary, the emblem of innocence and the author of all purity, for one of them at the head of the group carried a beautiful banner representing the Immaculate Virgin. Then marched the singers and immediately after them the clergy. Many parts of the building were blessed and sprinkled with holy water, and the corner stone, into which a cross had been cut and gilded, was laid with appropriate prayers and ceremonies. This done, all returned in the same order to the platform, the clergy singing the canticle of the Blessed Virgin, 'My South doth Magnify the Lord,' to return thanks to the Lord for the beautiful language of Mary for the favors and blessings of the day.

"This ended a ceremony which few had ever witnessed before, but which all will be likely to remember for many many years. Such a day is an epoch in the already interesting history of our town.

"I have now given you the particulars you desired, but, before closing, I want to tell you how glad and proud I feel that our new church will soon increase the number of the handsome buildings of this beautiful village, for I, with all others, wish to be numbered among those who shall never rest until they have done much for the morality and prosperity of its citizens."

The same paper that contained the above account announced Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin as the republican nominees for president and vice president, and Erastus Fairbanks as the republican candidate for governor of Vermont. The democratic presidential candidate was Stephen A. Douglas and the poet, John G. Saxe was the democratic candidate for governor. In Caledonia county these men, well-known to a former generation were candidates for public office; A. E. Judvine of Hardwick and L. N. Hall of Groton, for senators; Seneca Montgomery of Walden and Ezra A. Parks of Waterford, for side judges; A. L. French of St. Johnsbury, for judge of probate; G. W. Cahoon of Lyndon for state's attorney; Emerson Hall of St. Johnsbury for sheriff; and Charles Shipman of Hardwick for high bailiff. Martin L. Poland, only son of Luke P. Poland had just received from Congressman Walton an appointment as cadet to West Point, and had written his father that he had slept in a blanket on the ground for the first time in his life. Elias N. Davis of Danville was mentioned as a candidate

Baltimore Woman's Message to Mothers

At 820 W. Hayward Ave., lives Mrs. Henry Johnson, who a few weeks ago wrote what may be termed a good message to all mothers. She said: "I have used Dr. True's Elixir for more than ten years and know it is good." She used Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, to rid her children of worms. There is hardly a child but what needs Dr. True's Elixir, for they all usually have worms when growing up. Mrs. Johnson appreciates what Dr. True's Elixir accomplishes. Your children will be in better health through its use.
